Performance Initiatives Undertaken

Bonneville's VP/HR's attended the NAB Job Fair in Las Vegas in April 2007. On behalf of all Bonneville radio stations, they met with 1,200 attendees and discussed careers in radio. Their efforts aimed to promote diversity and increase the pool of qualified applicants in the broadcast industry.

Seattle's Newsroom Internship Program is designed to assist local college students acquire skills for future careers in broadcasting. Newsroom interns gain practical experience in broadcast journalism by writing stories, rewriting copy, researching stories, and learning audio and editing techniques. Other internship opportunities include hands-on work assisting talk show producers in the production of live broadcasting.

EEO Training was held for all Department Head managers on April 25, 2007. Seattle's HR Director discussed Bonneville's EEO Policy, including Bonneville's policy as it pertains to recruitment, evaluation, selection, compensation, training, promotion, and termination. Additionally, all Department Heads were provided with the Policy and an outline of proper steps to take in the EEO hiring process.

On May 15, 2007, Seattle's HR Director attended the Puget Sound Radio and Broadcasters Association Job Fair at North Seattle Community College. The HR Director met with over 150 college students and walk-in applicants interested in careers in radio. The HR Director answered questions relating to programming and promotion positions and received 50 completed applications. Bonneville Seattle's local community outreach organizations were notified of the job fair and encouraged to attend.

On July 13, 2007, Bonneville Seattle hosted an EEO Breakfast for its local community outreach organizations. 10 attendees sat through presentations from various departments, learned about specific jobs available and specific qualities looked for in applicants. A discussion was held in which attendees informed the HR Director on ways to improve the frequency of referrals and engage more interest from the sources.

Upper level managers mentor local college and high school students on an ongoing basis. Additionally, at the request of professors from local universities on Seattle's outreach organization list, managers attend classes as guest speakers and provide students with relevant and applicable information regarding careers in radio broadcast.
